IB CREDIT:

Student with an International Baccalaureate Diploma

- Approximately nine (9) 3-hour courses (twenty-eight (28) semester hours) will be given for the completion of an International Baccalaureate Diploma.
- Laboratory courses and/or foreign language courses may result in a total of more than 28 semester hours.
- Credits will be distributed based on exam subjects, the level of the exam (HL, SL), and the grade received (1-7), for a total to sum to approximately 28 semester hours.
- Lower scores (e.g., 3 - 5) are considered for specific course credit on a one-on-one basis, based on discussions with the student and Brevard College placement tests.
- Similarly, SL courses are considered on a one-on-one basis, based on discussions with the student.
- If it is determined that a specific course substitution is not appropriate, based on scores, elective credits will be given, such that total of awarded credits is between 24-28 for the diploma student.
- Brevard College placement tests in foreign language are recommended to determine credit for courses past the elementary level in a language, 101 and 102.

Students without an International Baccalaureate Diploma, but participated in the program

- Students with IB credits, but no diploma, will be awarded credits for individual subject areas for which they achieved 5+ scores, and for which Brevard College placement tests indicate success in that subject.
