

Brevard College
Fall 2023
Assistant or Associate Professor and Program Coordinator of Health and Human Performance

Brevard College seeks an enthusiastic teacher to fill a faculty position as an Assistant or Associate Professor of Health and Human Performance, who will also serve as Coordinator for the thriving Health and Human Performance Graduate Program. Appointment will begin June 1, 2023, with a preferred starting date of January 1, 2023. Candidates considered for this position will possess a terminal degree in a relevant field, in hand by starting date (e.g., a Ph.D. in Exercise Science, Kinesiology, or other appropriate degree).

Successful candidates must be engaging teachers of Health, Exercise Science, and Human Performance at both the undergraduate and graduate curriculum levels. Because the coordinator will review all graduate applicants, coordinate coursework, and recruit students to the program, we seek a dynamic and innovative leader who can engage with and encourage students, and can work collaboratively with existing faculty and staff. This position is an annual reappointment based on continued strong enrollment in the graduate program.

Teaching responsibilities include, but are not limited to, Motor Learning, Biomechanics, and Advanced Coaching Methods. The successful candidate will demonstrate a record of, or potential for, excellence in teaching and have experiential teaching skills. The standard teaching load is 9 graduate credit hours/semester (or 12 undergraduate credit hours), and all faculty members actively contribute to program assessment, serve on committees, advise students, and participate in professional development and service to the College.

Brevard College, founded in 1853, is a residential liberal arts college. Situated in the heart of the Blue Ridge Mountains, Brevard College is located 33 miles southwest of Asheville, North Carolina. Brevard College is committed to an experiential liberal arts education that encourages personal growth and inspires artistic, intellectual, and social action. Our faculty purposefully engage with learners in direct experience and focused reflections in order to increase knowledge, develop skills, and clarify values.

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. In order to provide a safe and productive learning and living environment, Brevard College conducts background investigations on all final candidates being considered for employment.

Applicants should email (1) a letter of application describing the applicant's qualifications relevant to teaching at Brevard College; (2) a statement of teaching philosophy; (3) a curriculum vitae documenting relevant experience, as well as courses the applicant has taught and is prepared to teach; (4) a sample syllabus from a recent course; and (5) names and contact information for three professional references, at least one of whom must be the applicant's current or most recent supervisor. Materials and inquiries should be submitted to:
