

Brevard College
Fall 2024
Assistant Professor of English

The Brevard College English Program seeks a tenure-track Assistant Professor in English, beginning in the fall of 2024. Candidates should have a Ph.D. in English, language and literature, or a closely related field. Specialization within the scholarly field is open, with preference for candidates who can contribute to diverse course offerings.

Successful candidates must be engaging teachers of English at all levels and fields of our undergraduate English curriculum, ranging from first- and second-year general education courses to upper-level courses for the English program. Teaching responsibilities include, but are not limited to: first-year writing courses; upper-division literature courses; and mentoring students as they research, write, revise, and present a capstone senior project. The successful candidate will demonstrate a record of excellence in teaching and use of experiential learning pedagogies. The standard teaching load is 12 credit hours/semester, and all faculty members actively contribute to program assessment, serve on committees, advise students, and participate in professional development and service to the College.

Brevard College, founded in 1853, is a residential liberal arts college. Situated in the heart of the Blue Ridge Mountains, Brevard College is located 33 miles southwest of Asheville, North Carolina. Brevard College is committed to an experiential liberal arts education that encourages personal growth and inspires artistic, intellectual, and social action. Our faculty purposefully engage with learners in direct experience and focused reflections in order to increase knowledge, develop skills, and clarify values. We are ranked #2 by US News and World Report in both Undergraduate Teaching and Most Innovative Schools.

The starting date for this position is August 2024. Review of applications will begin on November 1, 2023, and will continue until the position is filled. Brevard College seeks to recruit and retain a diverse workforce, and encourages qualified candidates across all group demographics to apply.

Applicants should submit (1) a letter of application describing the applicant's qualifications relevant to teaching at Brevard College; (2) a statement of teaching philosophy; (3) a curriculum vitae documenting relevant experience, as well as courses the applicant has taught and is prepared to teach; (4) a sample syllabus from a recent course; and (5) names and contact information for three professional references, at least one of whom should be the applicant's current or most recent supervisor. Materials and inquiries should be submitted to:
