

Health and Human Performance Adjunct Positions, FA 2024

Brevard College seeks qualified part-time (adjunct) faculty members for the Fall 2024 semester to teach the following online graduate-level courses:

Sports Nutrition
Sports Nutrition
Ethics and Sport Law
Organization and Administration in Sport
Sport Psychology
Advanced Coaching Methods, and Research Methods in Sports.

The ideal candidate(s) for teaching these courses would possess advanced academic credentials such as a doctorate or relevant professional certifications in their respective fields. Additionally, they should have practical experience, whether through research, coaching, or administration, along with a demonstrated ability to apply theoretical knowledge to real-world contexts. Brevard College's mission emphasizes experiential education, and we seek an enthusiastic teacher able to teach experientially online.

Salary is commensurate with education, experience, and discipline. Qualified candidates should send a current curriculum vitae and a cover letter explaining your teaching philosophy to: Dr. Mike Leamy, Associate Vice President for Online Learning, leamymb@brevard.edu.
