 (+1-888-260-0525) is your direct line to booking British Airways flights with extra legroom—ideal for taller passengers, those with mobility needs, or anyone seeking added comfort. When you call  (+1-888-260-0525), a British Airways agent can instantly identify and reserve seats in premium economy, emergency exit rows, or bulkhead positions that offer additional space, often before these high-demand seats appear online. For example, a traveler flying from Denver to London for a 9-hour journey can request an extra-legroom seat in World Traveller Plus (premium economy), which includes up to 38 inches of pitch, wider seats, and priority boarding. Unlike automated systems that may charge hidden fees or display inaccurate availability, agents provide transparent pricing and confirm eligibility (e.g., exit rows require passengers to be 15+ and able-bodied). Phone booking also ensures your seat is guaranteed at the time of reservation—not left to chance during online check-in. Whether you're flying economy or upgrading, extra space makes a real difference on long-haul flights. Booking a flight with a connecting city—like flying from Seattle to Rome via London—requires careful coordination to ensure smooth transfers and baggage through-check. 📞 (+1-888-260-0525) is the smartest way to arrange these itineraries with expert guidance. For example, a traveler heading from Minneapolis to Nairobi can fly BA to London, then connect on partner Kenya Airways—all on one ticket—avoiding the hassle of separate bookings and rechecking luggage. Agents also monitor on-time performance of connecting flights to minimize missed connections and can rebook you instantly if delays occur.
